

Return Again

A beginning once more new lights in her personal life and employment, just a shade away.

Is it timing, tock-tick?
Surveying is a challenge in our environment where swift movements and relaxation are required now.

Taking her hand is a gift from my daughter
whose name gives a cheer to all she supports and engages.

Last night the concert
in the Kennedy Center,
a salute to a Korean philanthropist, was a diverse challenge.
Though the composition was successful, according to some,
the interpretation was common.

The ups and downs in technique and phrasing were sparse, human courage sprouted all over.

A lift for the paw of culture glistened and I wondered what planet we were on.
We return again.