

Mr. President

This country has acquired a seventeen trillion dollar debt.
Where are we with your Affordable Care Act,
with Medicare and Medicaid?

These programs are so extensive that the government will be at zero if we continue with them.

Other programs have immense problems too.
We should be spending our money
on roads, education, medical research, social welfare, and environmental protection.
Other necessities will be dropped.

Where is the clarity in consumer spending?
Your tax reform could improve our fiscal health.
It is essential that you concentrate on jobs, jobs, and jobs.

We must underline another possibility
and that comes from the new energy sector.
Growth is the answer.
